

Good evening families!

I have created a not-so-brief video with various things I'd like you and the students to know for the start of the school year. I apologize for its length, the bullet points are valuable but I do include some useful narration as well.

Please take the time to watch as each part of it will likely apply to each student's situation sometime throughout the year.

If you have any questions, please reach out through phone or email. Here is the link:

Also, our Guidance Department has produced a video with information that is important to know. Here is the link for that video:

Have a great evening!
